

SNAL RECEIVES BOOKS FROM PROF. AIDA C. ISINIKA

Among the ways to increase and promote various publications and information in any Library, receiving gifts or support is one of the main ways apart from buying.

Recently former employee at Sokoine Agricultural University (SUA) Prof. Aida C. Isinika who was at the Institute of Continuing Education (ICE) & CoEBS and who has done a lot of consulting work in the agriculture and development sector has gifted the Sokoine National Agricultural Library (SNAL) about 230 books and thus increasing the number of publications in that library.

During the gift of books to the Sokoine National Agricultural Library, he advised the community to love reading and to see the library as a close friend who can provide them with reliable information that can change the community developmentally and intellectually.

In addition, in his advice, he also asked the academic community to help the library grow by providing books that many have locked in their closets at home. He said that by releasing these books, they will be read by many people and help those people to get various knowledge for their personal development and the development of the Nation as a whole.

Congratulating and thanking Prof. Isinika, Director of the Sokoine National Agricultural Library Prof. Camilius Sanga praised the retiree's move to gift the Library the books that he has been using to teach and write various publications before he retired. He has also invited retirees, other academics and various stakeholders to contribute their books and publications to the library for the benefit of our College as well as its stakeholders who are students, researchers and society in general.
